The Sherlock Holmes Museum is in London. It's at 221b Baker Street. It's a very famous address, but there isn't a number 221b in Baker Street. The museum is between numbers 237 and 241.

The museum is open every day from 9.30 a.m. to 6 p.m. (except Christmas Day).

There are four floors in the museum. On the ground floor, there is a shop. You can buy books, hats, pipes, and T-shirts. There are many different things with the words 'Sherlock Holmes' on them.

On the first floor, there is Sherlock Holmes's living room. There are some comfortable chairs and a fire. There are some books and newspapers. There are some old photos of the detective. In one photo, he is playing the violin. Holmes loves music.

On the second floor, there is Dr. Watson's bedroom. There is a bed, a desk, and a chair. There is a big wooden box under the bed. In the box, there are some old letters and some clothes. There are some photos of Dr. Watson on the walls. There is a photo of his wife, Mary Morstan. She is very beautiful.

On the third floor, there is a laboratory. There are some notes about some cases. There are some photos of criminals on the walls. There is a photo of Professor Moriarty. He is Holmes's enemy.

In the museum, there are some wax figures of Sherlock Holmes, Dr. Watson, Mrs. Hudson, and Inspector Lestrade. They look very real.
