Reading

Exercise 1. Read the text. Match the descriptions of monsters with their images. What's the coolest creature and why?

There are many scary mystical creatures from all over the world that people have talked about for centuries. One of these creatures is the werewolf, which is a human that can turn into a wolf during a full moon. The origin of this creature comes from European folklore and has been featured in many books and movies. The Kappa is another scary creature from Japan. It's a water spirit that lives in rivers and ponds. It has a beak-like mouth and a shell on its back. The Kappa is known for dragging people into the water and drowning them.

The third creature is the Chupacabra, which is a creature that attacks and kills livestock in South America. Its name means "goat sucker" because it is known to suck the blood out of goats. There are many different stories about where this creature came from, but nobody knows for sure.

The kraken is a sea monster that is believed to live in the deep ocean. It's said that this creature can sink ships with its massive tentacles. The origin of this creature is from Scandinavian folklore and has been around since the 13th century.

These creatures, whether real or not, have been part of our cultures and folklore for many years. Their scary stories continue to amaze and frighten us. Despite this, they remind us of the power and mysteries of the world around us.
